Introduction

Introduction
In the midst of the activities, sports, and academia which cover the extent of a year at Greensboro Day School, one sometimes forgets the core of our existence here. An average day at the school, if there is such a thing, is most certainly the hub of Day School life. It is a daily routine that can hardly be called routine and a style that is seldom monotonous.

pg. 6

Staff

The Day School staff is filled with competent, intelligent, and capable individuals, their many actions to the contrary notwithstanding. Their contributions to the school are various and their activities are numerous.

pg. 18

Students

What makes the Day School unique is the interaction between grades K-12 which lends an atmosphere of relaxation and makes the school more of a community than an institution.

pg. 54

Seniors

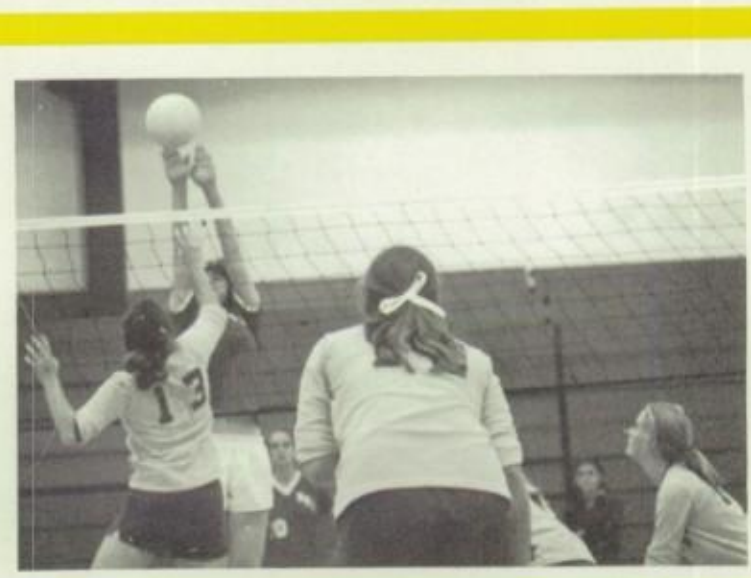
Every year a new crowd of lunatics is released from the Day School and unleashed on the world. They take with them everything they've learned here and leave on the school their own marks (or should we say scars).

pg. 98

Sports

The Day School has soccer and basketball teams that have brought it many victories and much pride. It has many different teams which allow almost every student to participate.

pg. 148



Activities

The various activities of GDS keep the students busy and relieve the tensions of a fast paced academic life.

pg. 172

ASSEMBLY is...

. . . walking up the steps to the Fine Arts Building half asleep, frantically searching for your advisor, yackin' with friends, finishing homework at the last minute, catching up on the latest gossip, straining to hear announcements, and then ironically hoping it lasts through first period.

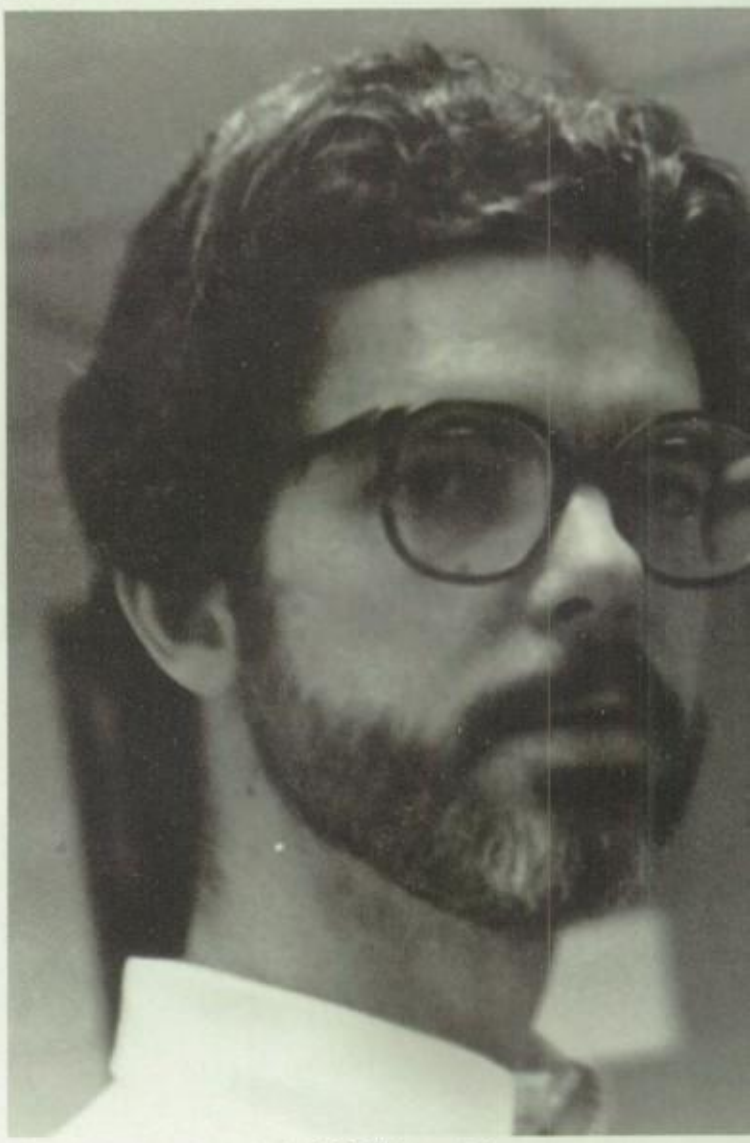
English Department

Mrs. Tricia Fish

This years english department is one of the largest and best in the history of the school? All are well 'nown novelties and graduates of Yale University, a group of obvious individuals, each Preacher has a unique and creative teaching style. The Curriculum, in itself, is an infection of every teacher. They find time to consecrate the Edge and other school literally involved functions. The entire Student body is Exteemly lucky to have such an excelent Facility and is obviously aborting a great deal from each and every teacher. P.S. (Please excuse any grammatical mistakes, incorrect sentence structure, or general English impossibilities.)



Mr. William Moore

Mr. John H. Honiss

Ms. Linda Grant

Mr. Michael Dougherty

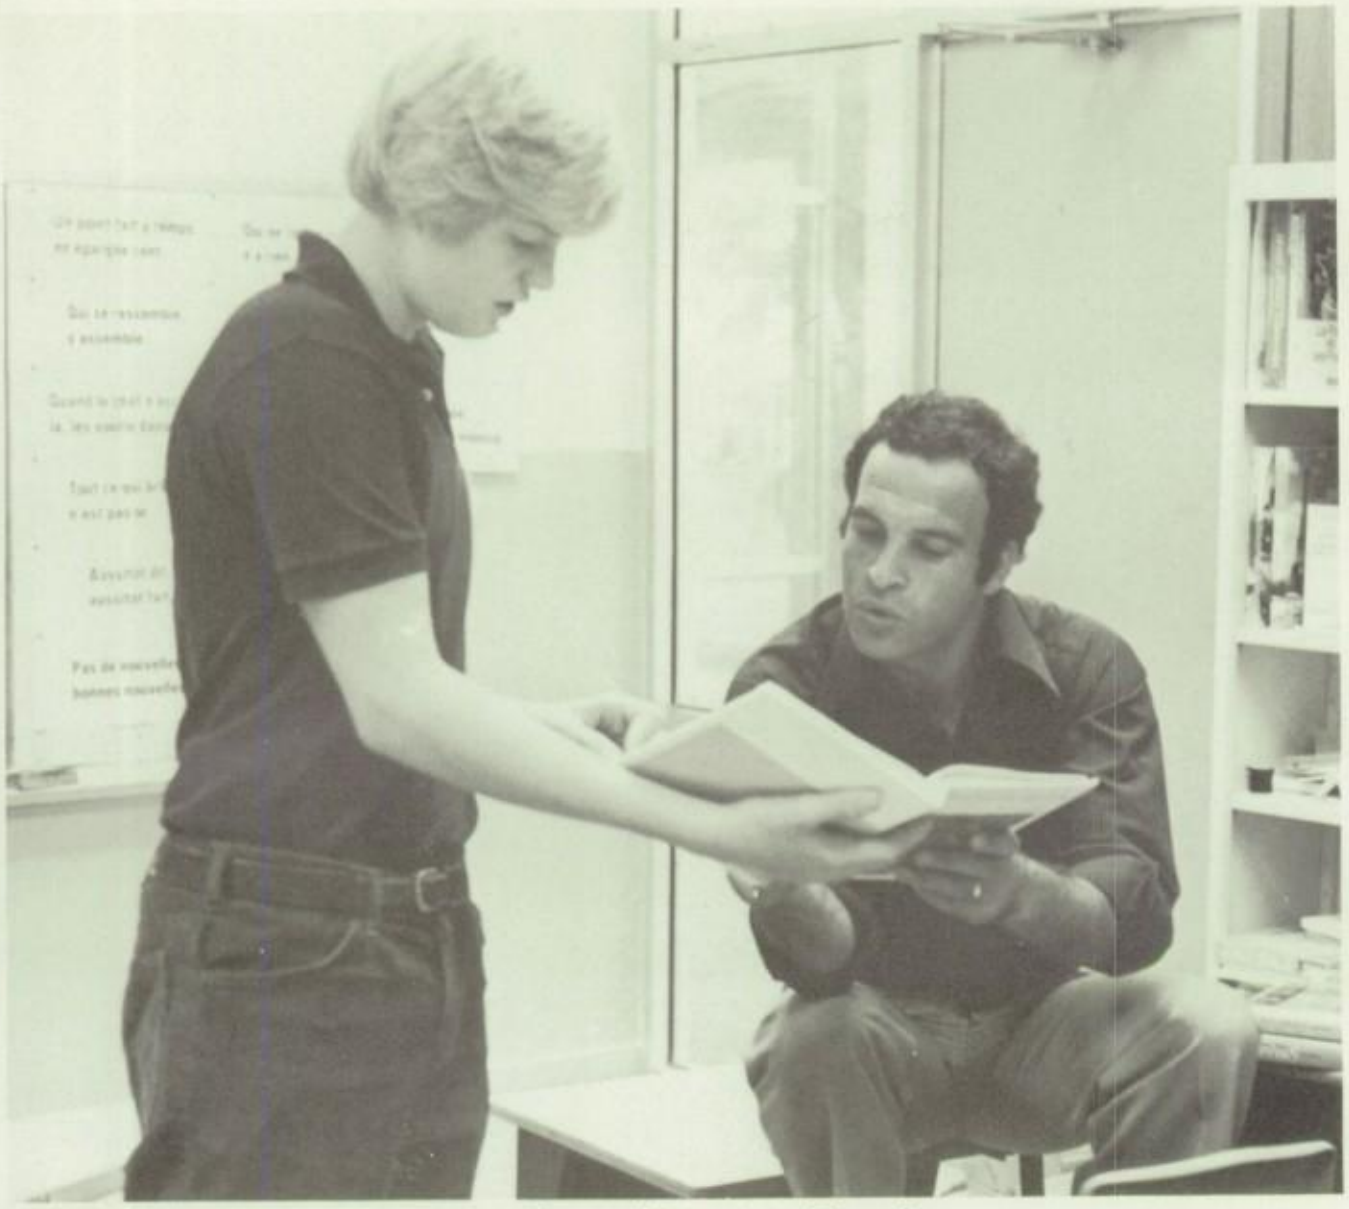
Language Department

The foreign languages department still upholds its high standards of excellence with fine teachers and good teaching material. In response to the student requests, Greek has been added to our curriculum. The French Classes participate in the annual language competitive at Winston-Salem, as do the Spanish classes. The Latin students also have their own special competition against other schools in the Junior Classical League in Chapel Hill. Many awards and much recognition has been won by the Day School language students at these competitions. We trust that the department will continue with its good work.

Mrs. Margarita Throop — Spanish, Department Head

Ms. Kathleen Scott — Spanish, French

Ms. Judy Sirkel — Latin, French



Mr. Mohamed Jazari — French

Mrs. Janet Rhodes — Latin

History Department

The History Department, led by department chairman Dr. Lewis Snow, is comprised of a group of scholars versed in the annals of man's past endeavors. It constantly tries to aid students in the answering of such questions as: "Who really fought in The French And Indian War?" "Who is buried in Grant's tomb?" "What were the beginning and ending dates of the Renaissance?" and "What caused the fall of the Roman Empire?"

Dr. Jim Hendrix

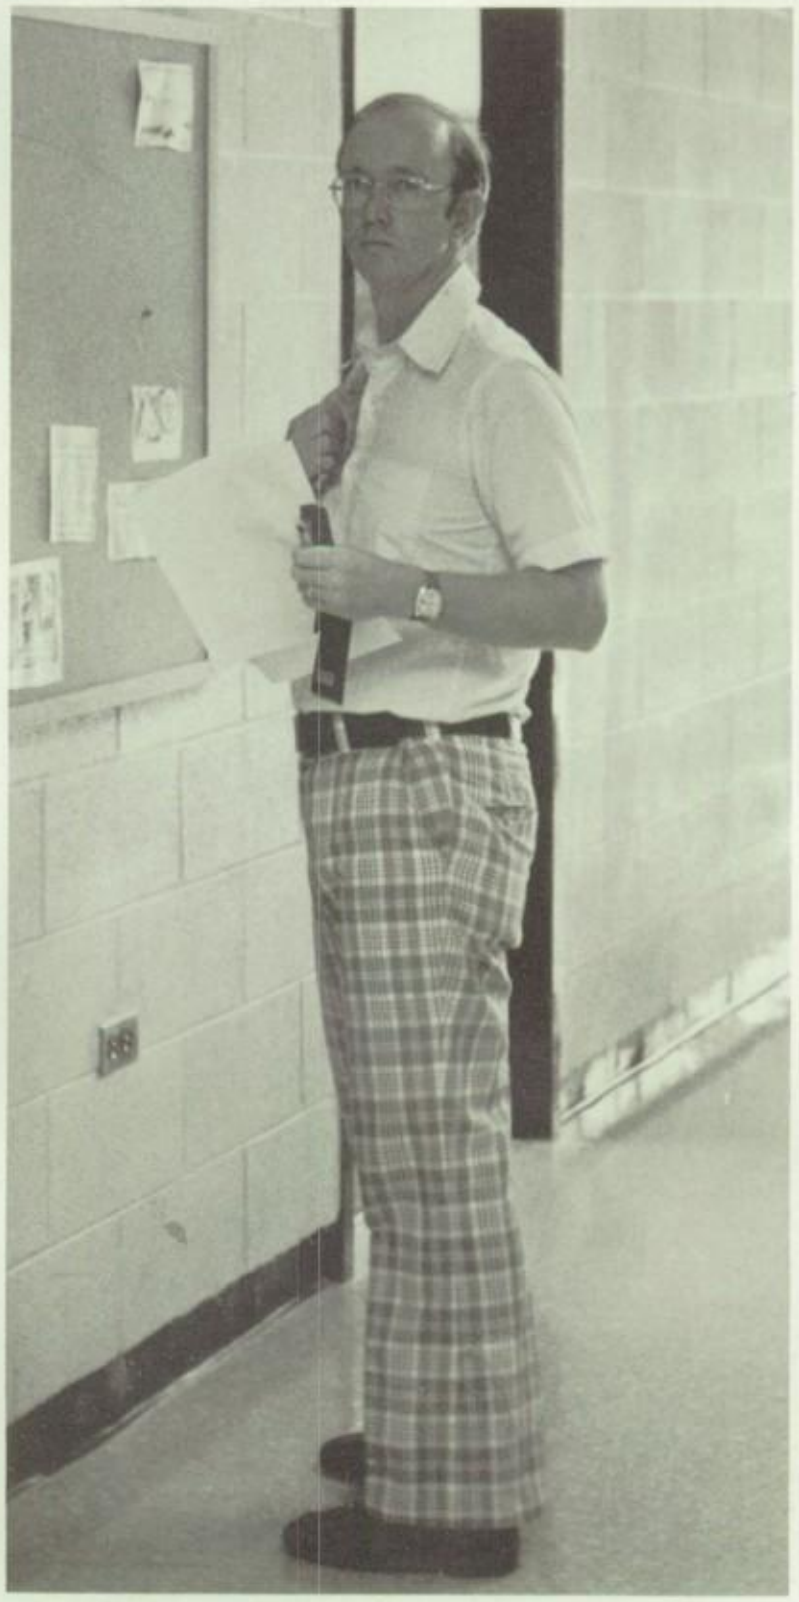
Mrs. Shirley McCreedy

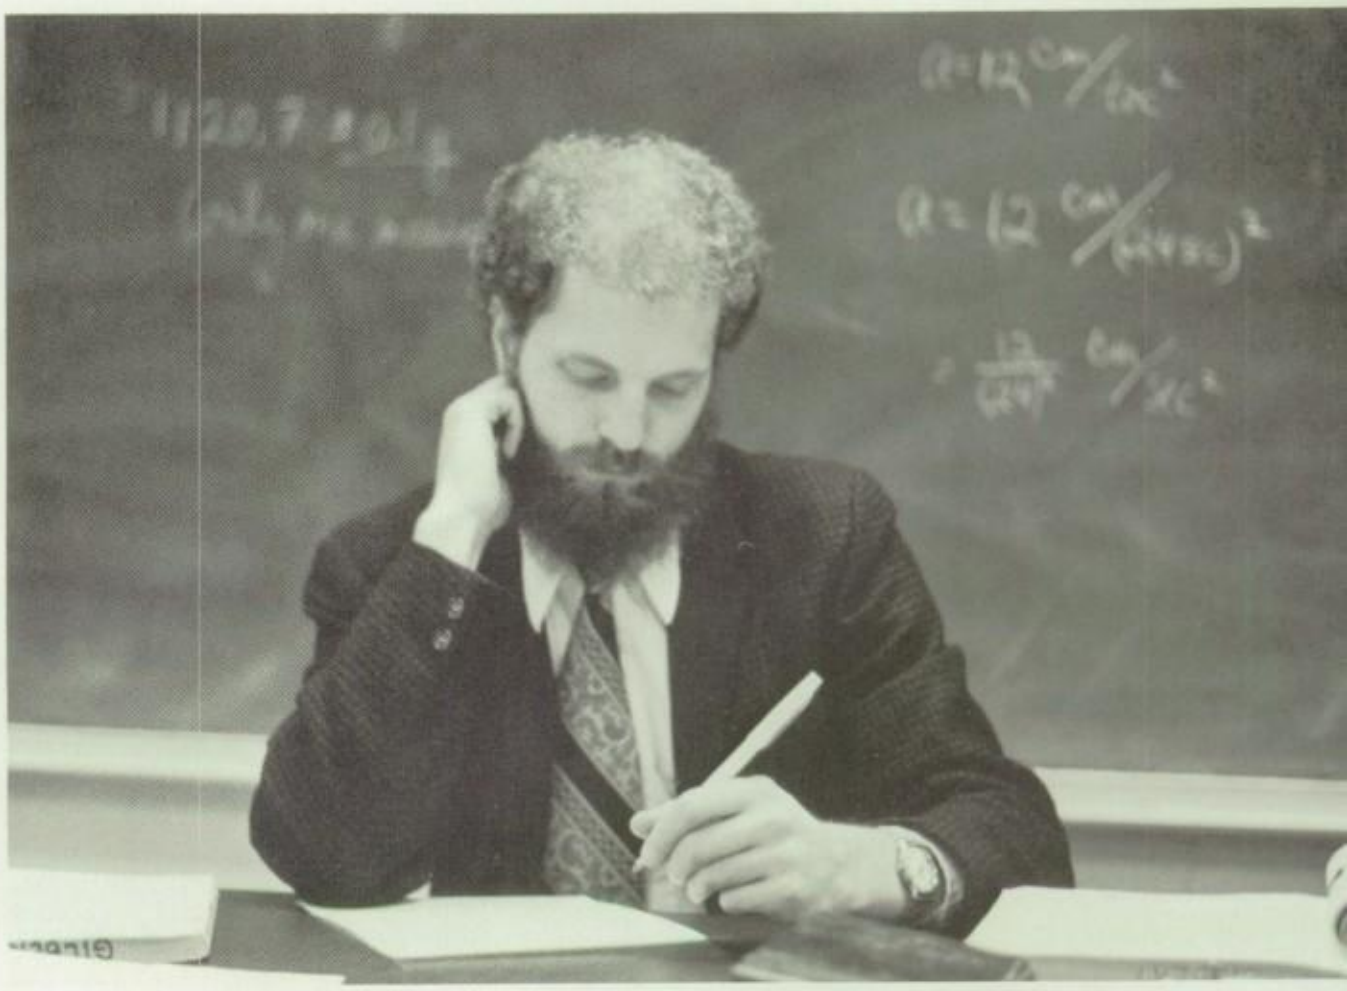


Dr. Lew Snow — Department Head

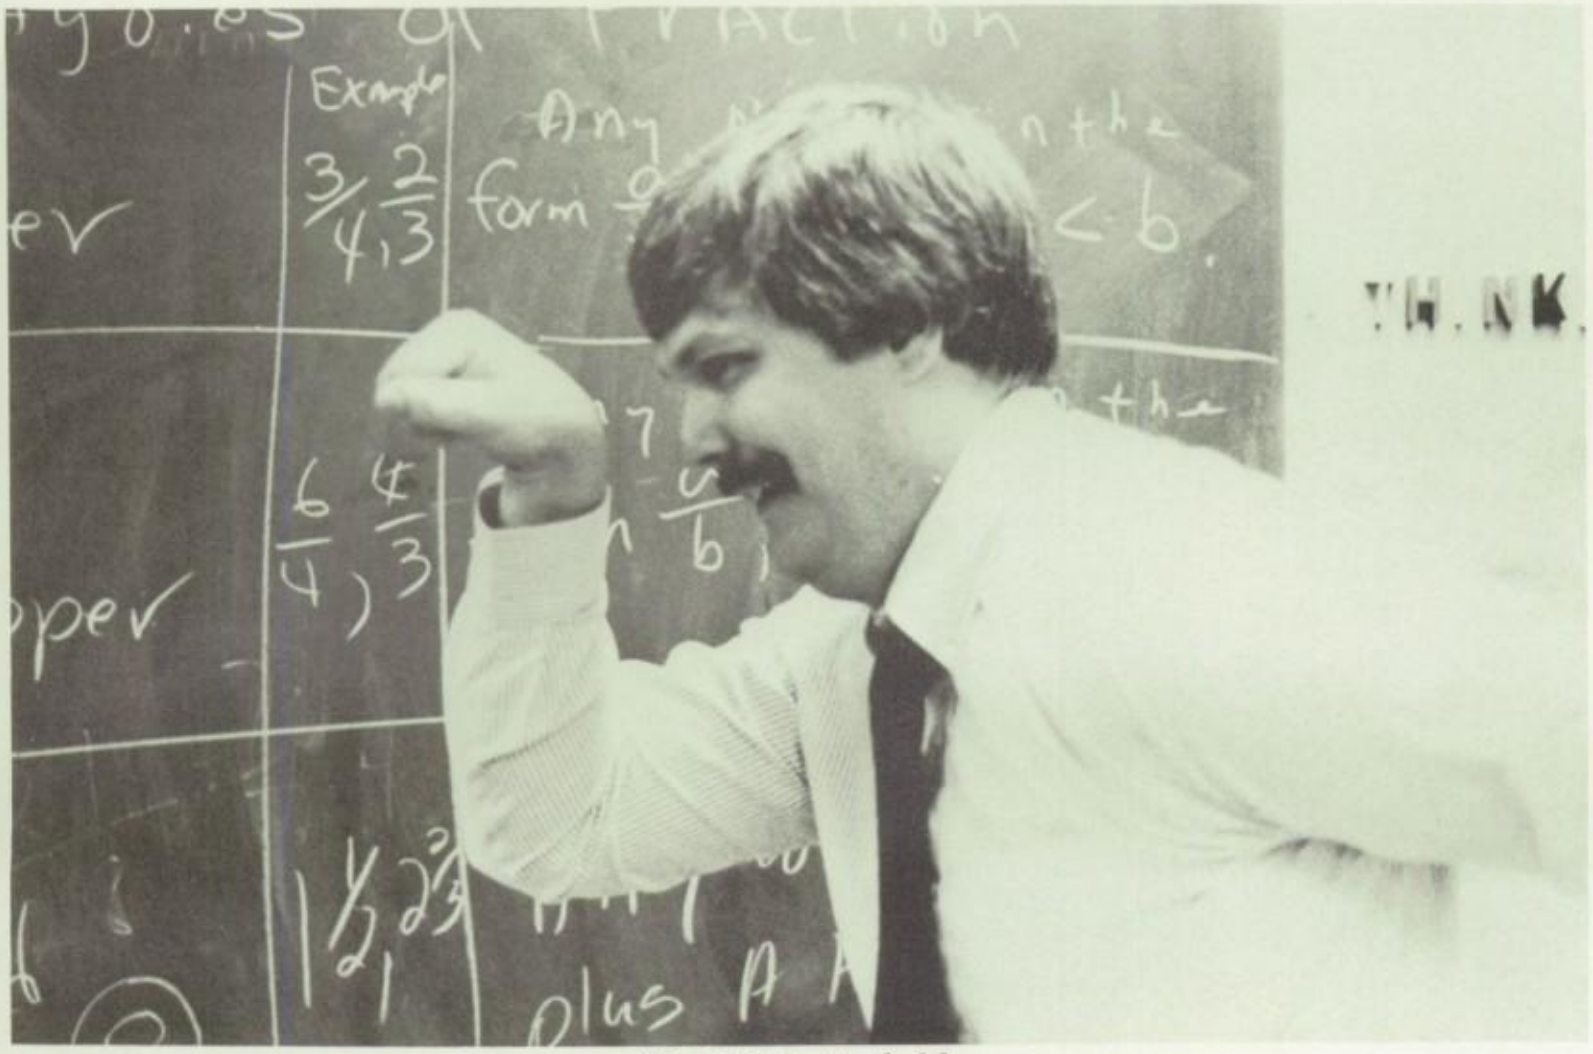
Math Department

The scope of the Mathematics Department ranges from the instruction of basic computation to that of higher analytical reasoning. The curriculum, enhanced by the many staff members, varies within this range to meet the needs of every student in the Upper School. Another dimension of this program is the addition of a new computer system. The department emphasizes the development and use of analytical thinking as a goal for all students.

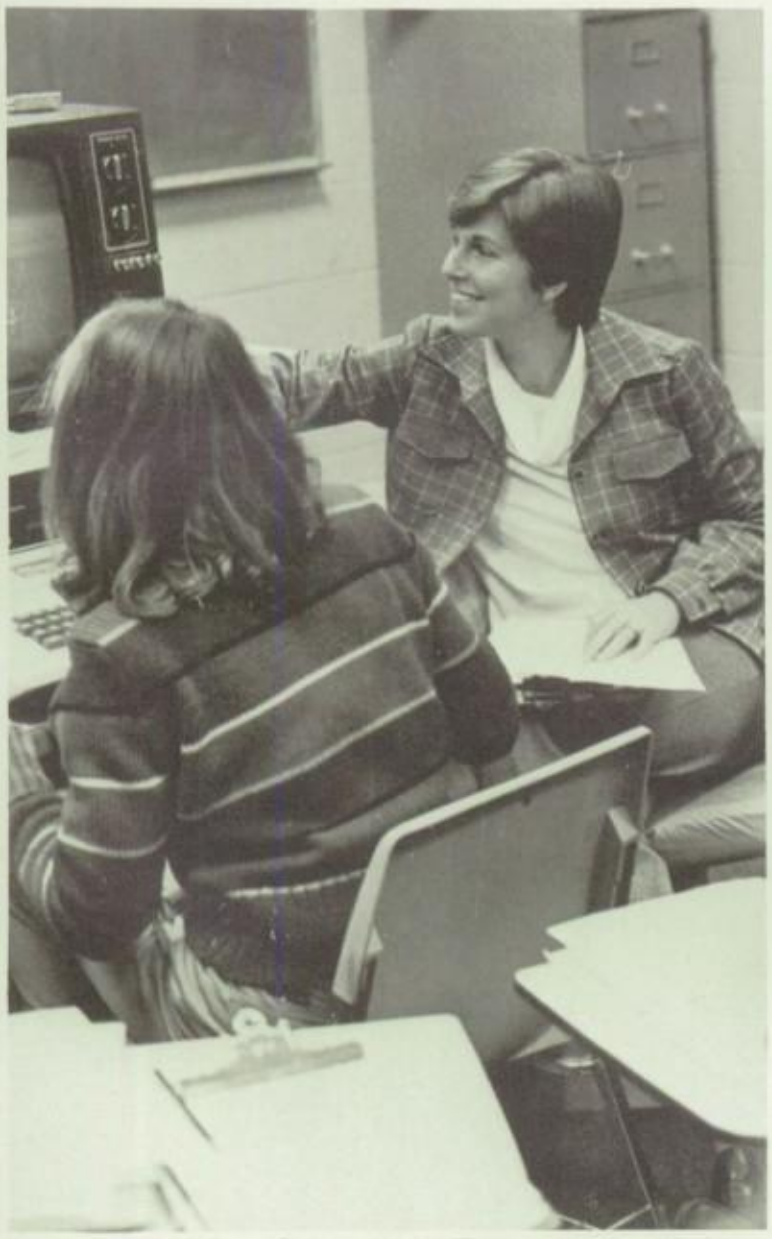
Mrs. Louise Cornet



Mr. Dave Gilbert



Mr. Bob Satterfield



Mrs. Grace Ann Tennis

Mrs. Kathy Davis

Science Department

The Science Department at the Day School is comprised of a diverse group of people representing many different talents. This diversity allows students to choose courses in many branches of science, including the new Apple Computer system which the math and science departments coordinate. This year, students in grades seven through nine once again competed at the Math/ Science Olympics held at N.C. A&T University

With the increase in size and activities of the school, the business side of the administration has taken a more professional position. Mr. Tom Maeder has been added as the Director of Development and a wing of the Middle School is now chiefly composed of offices. Such publications as "News from the Day School" keep the parents informed of school functions and activities.

Administration

There were two new appointments in the administration this year. Mr. Robert Dobson became the Upper School Director, and Mr. Wynne Harkless became the Coordinator of the Middle School. The latter is a new position, and was created to allow for the development of the curriculum at the Middle School level to insure smooth and educationally sound transition from the Lower to the Upper School. Veterans Jim Hendrix and Rick Michaels round out this tightly knit group, and form a basis of strength for the operation of the school.

Tall oaks from little acorns grow;
And though now I am small and young
Of judgment weak and feeble tongue
Yet all great learned men like me
Once learned to read their ABC.

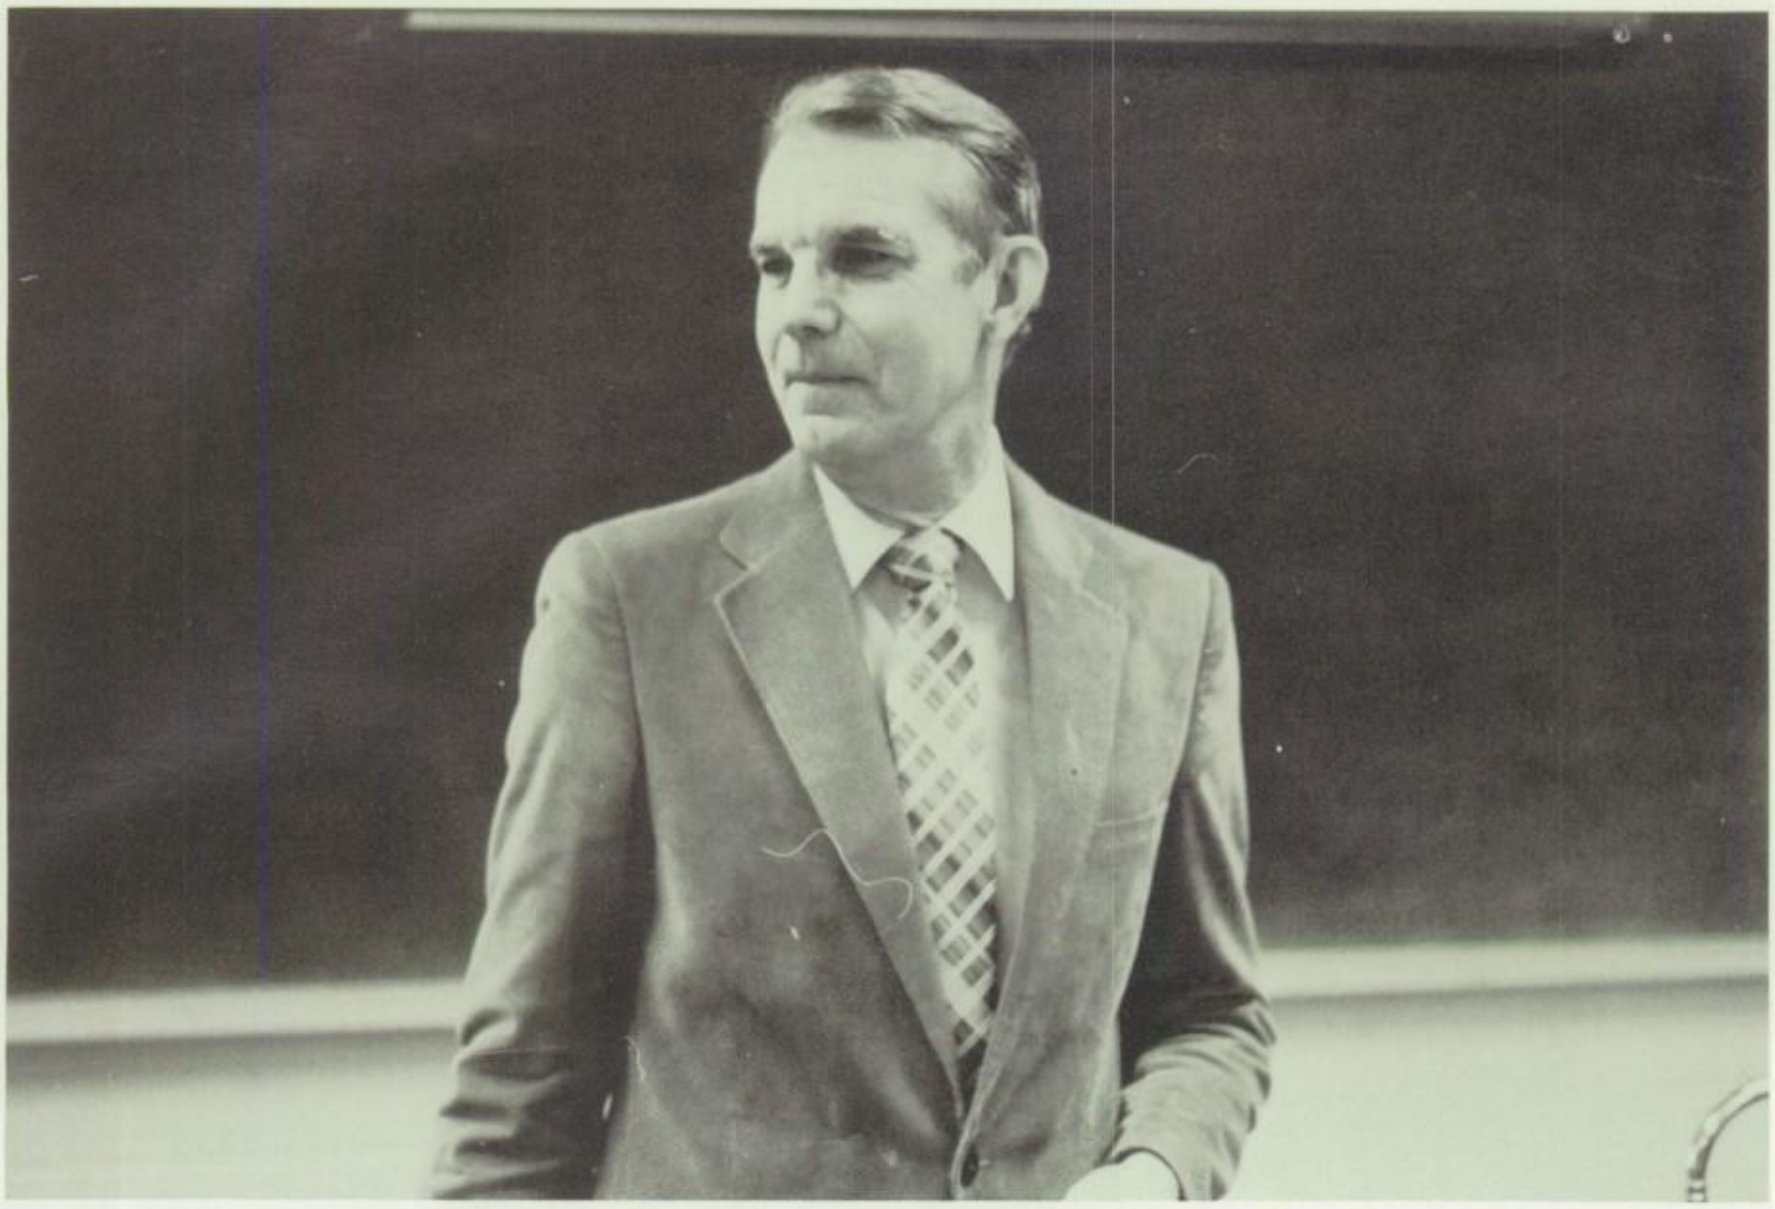
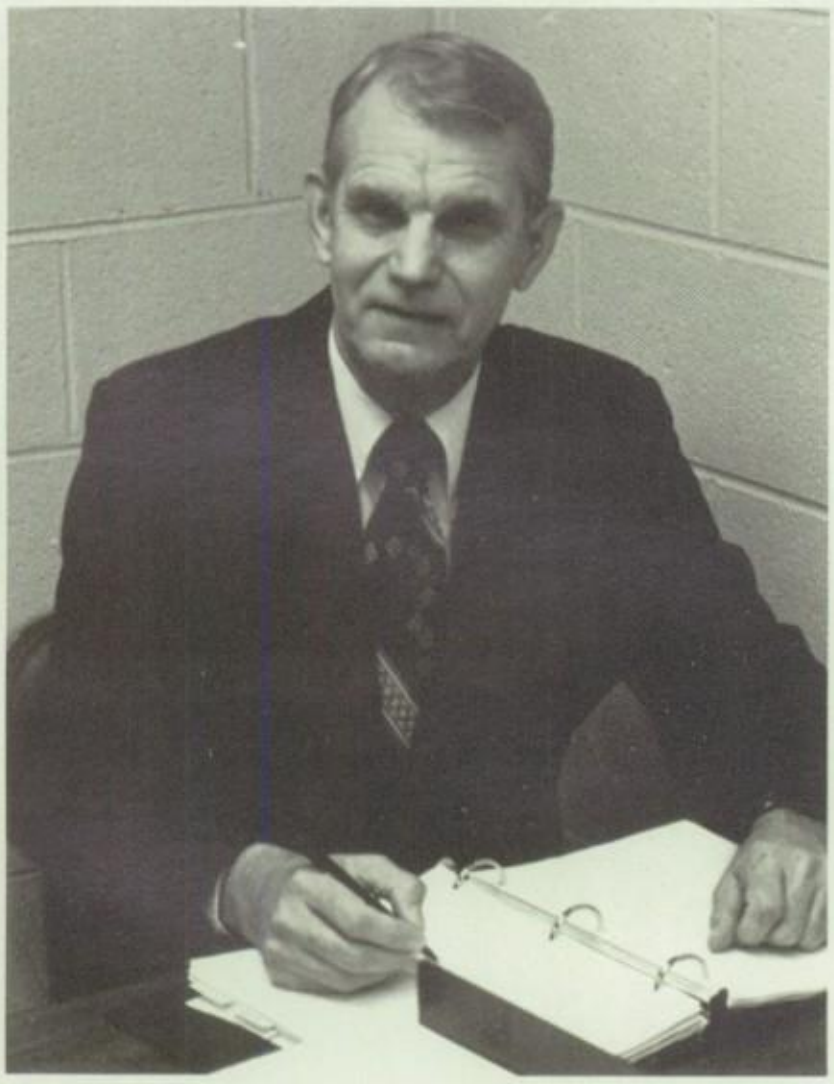
DEDICATION





There are not many people on this globe who could hold down the position of disciplinarian at a school like ours, do it effectively, leave absolutely no question as to the nature of his expectations, and remain universally loved and respected by students and faculty alike. Mr. Vance Robertson is such a person.

In his many years at the Day School, Vance has been a stimulating teacher of science and a kind and paternal member of the administration, who nevertheless leaves no "communication gap" between himself and the student body. He has been integrally involved in virtually every facet of Day School life, from field trips at Umstead State Park to student council advisor, to varsity basketball games, at which he is a regular spectator.

A page like this, of course, is thoroughly inadequate to honor as dedicated and professional an educator of young people as Vance Robertson. The spontaneous applause which greets him when he appears before the student body, the warm regard for him which so obviously exudes from his colleagues, and the general aura of respect which he has earned here say far more than this page can. Nevertheless, we take this opportunity to say "thank you" to this very special person: we love you, Mr. Robertson!

It was an April morning, when they told us we should go
And as I turned to you, you smiled at me,
how could we say no?

The Varsity Soccer Team . . .

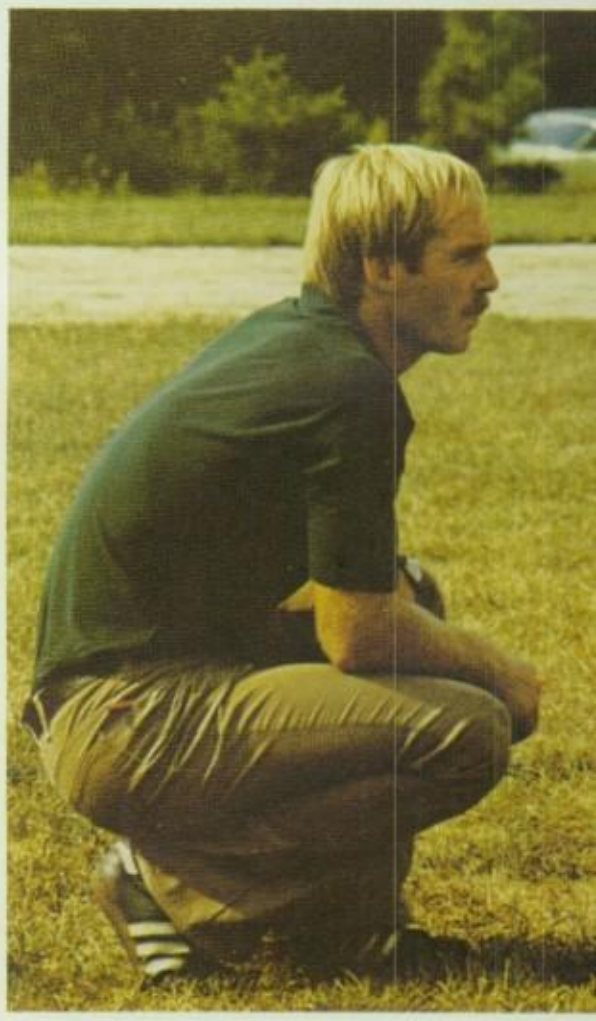
GO BENGALS



This year the team had the most successful season in the school's history. The Bengals set school records for most victories, most goals in a season and most goals in a game. The team defeated two 4-A High Schools, a 3-A school twice and lost decisions to state co-champs Page and #1 ranked FCDS by a single goal. Against a tough schedule, the Bengals proved themselves worthy of the top ten recognition they received.

It was a great season for the volleyball team, which finished the year third in the state in the private school rankings. Elizabeth Hinds made the All-State team, Nancy Prather was on the first team of the All-Conference squad, and Anne Shanks was named second team, All-Conference.

The Junior Varsity Cheerleaders, aside from contribution of beauty to the games, have proven to be very supportive of all Bengal athletes as well as the student body. They provided moral support as they cheered for the J.V. Boys and Girls basketball teams. Being understudies of the Varsity, teams the J.V. teams provide excellent learning experience for the jocks, which ensures championship quality Varsity teams in the future.

Middle School Cheerleaders

Middle School and Ninth Grade Cheerleaders
The Day School Middle School and Ninth Grade Cheerleaders have supported our future Varsity players with a great deal of zest. With the unfortunate minimum interest in non Varsity sports, these girls more than make up for the lack of support detrimental to a winning team.

Who left that piece of ice there for me to sit on?

He is so dreamy!

This years varsity cheerleading squad has been a definite asset to the Bengal varsity basketball teams. With their constant support, pep, and enthusiasm, they have cheered the Bengals on to many victories.

Varsity Womens' Basketball

John Honiss, Betsy Younce, Kristine Hoag, Tracey Cloninger, Regina Avery, Marty Glascock, Mary Ruth Cooke, Terri Stout, Anne Shanks, Julie Thompson, Elizabeth Hinds, Josie Ward, Carol Ray.

Varsity Girls Basketball
The Varsity Girls Basketball team, led by coach John Honis had a fine season this year. With sharp-shooters Regina Ave and Anne Shanks, the team had a number of fine victories. Though they were defeated in the homecoming game, they played hard and deserve credit for their efforts.

Varsity Boys' Basketball

Hard-nosed defense and a team-played offense were the trade-marks of the Varsity Boys team, which had one of the most successful seasons in the school's history. The Bengals, or cagers, utilized an experienced line-up and a strong bench to finish at the top of the conference standings. Congratulations to the fighting Bengals on a fine season, and to coach Johnson, PACIS' Coach of the Year.

The Spectator Staff

The Spectator staff of 1980-81 has done an excellent job under the guidance of Ms. Grant. Unlike in preceeding years, the Spectator now also covers many feature stories concerning the community: the Ku Klux Klan trials, the county fair, and interviews with senators and state representatives. Under the direction of editor Mary Schenck, the Spectator covers all school activities, giving the readers a variety of interesting articles to read.

The Literary Magazine

The Literary Magazine Staff, counseled by Mr. Moore, has again done an outstanding job. The magazine is composed of poetry as well as prose and is written by the student body. The annual Writing contest, an event which caused great excitement in our school, was a success. The magazine continues to have that Professional touch which makes it enjoyable and easy to read.

The National Honor Society, comprised solely of seniors throughout most of the year, has continued to serve the school through its various functions. The tutorial program and the book fair are ways in which the society has been active in service to the school.

Led by editor in chief Cindy Hatfield, the annual staff once again chronicled the vents of G.D.S. Fighting the ever present deadlines, the staff worked against confusion and general chaos to get every photo shot printed and laid out in time. Despite a slow start, the business staff was also able to meet its requirements. This annual is the result of many long and tiring hours as well as many screams, sobs, pleas, and unrepeatable words from many people.

Student Council

The Greensboro Day School Student Council represents the needs and wants of the student body to the administration. They have continued to do this by revising the school constitution and placing student members on the Disciplinary Committee. The Student Council has aided the school by sponsoring both the school's annual fund raising Orange Drive and the Homecoming Dance.

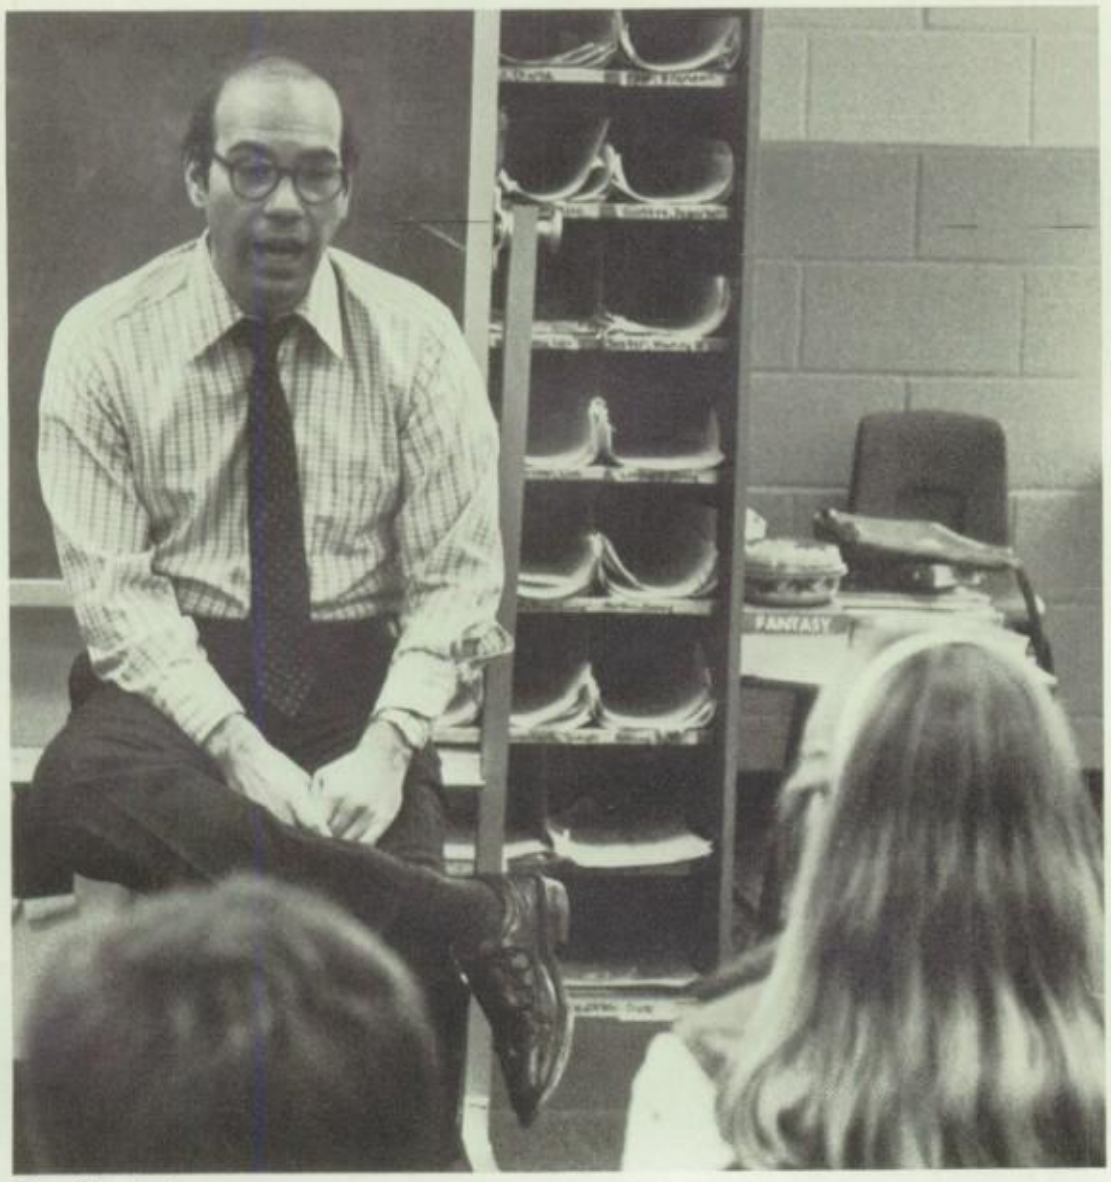
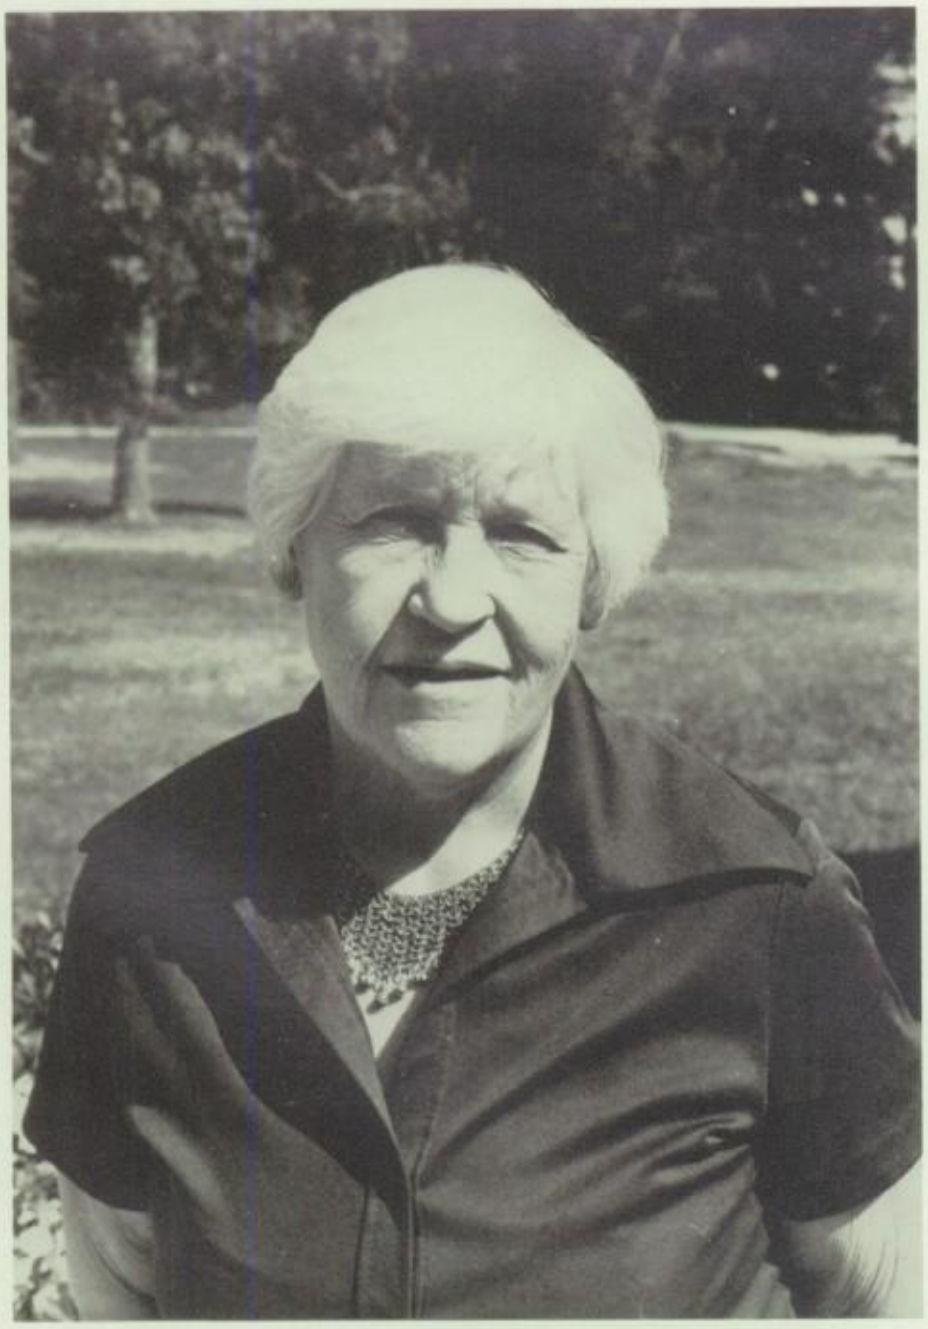
Junior Classical League

The Junior Classical League is a conglomeration of first through fifth year latin students who go to Chapel Hill each year for the J.C.L. convention. At the convention, the students compete in the Certaman, a high I.Q. bowl style test of students knowledge of Roman history and latin. They also join in the Olympics, which are held at the track and involve all the usual events of track meets as well as a chariot race.

Artist and Poet in Residence



Jay Parini



Charity James

Parini and James

The Day School has been fortunate this year in having two artists in residence, Jay Parini and Charity James. Mr. Parini, a native of Scranton, Pennsylvania, was at the Day School for a week, sharing his poetry with both students and parents alike. Many of his poems deal with episodes that teens face frequently.

Charity James has been here all year, working in the lower school to integrate the arts more fully into the curriculum. She has written two books on educational reform and teaches a course in psychology at Guilford College.

Eighth Grade Chorus

The Band, formally known as the Instrumental Music Ensemble, is composed of a fine group of musicians spanning grades nine through twelve. It has provided an entertaining half-time show at many Varsity basketball games this year. They also played at the winter presentation and were accompanied by the upper school chorus. Led by Mrs. Dortch, the members of the chorus added life and laughter to this event with songs such as "Sleigh Ride" and "The Twelve Days of Christmas"

FABRICS PEOPLE LIVE IN

An Equal Opportunity Employer

Cone Mills Corporation, Greensboro, N.C.

1895 was a very good year

1895.

America's first professional football game was played in Pennsylvania, and Latrobe defeated Jeanette, 12-0.

1895 was also the year that Cone Mills was founded in Greensboro, North Carolina, and produced its very first yard of fabric, which was blue denim.

Today, football and Cone denim are still very much a part of the American leisure scene. And just like the game of football has changed over the years, so have Cone fabrics — we're making them better than ever before.

We've learned that you don't win Super Bowls — or that you don't succeed in industry — without a quality team and a quality product. At Cone Mills, that's been our winning combination to keep us a step ahead of the competition since 1895.

Cone Mills. Some 12,500 people at 22 plants. Our products include denim, corduroy and fabrics for sportswear, uniforms, career apparel and home furnishings. Other businesses include fabric finishing and the manufacture of an extensive line of polyurethane foam products.

Thomas H. Maeder
Director of Development

Dear Class of 1981:

Congratulations on your graduating from The Day School! Your class can be proud of its many accomplishments both academically and athletically.

Now that you are alumni/ae, I am hopeful that you will feel a sense of responsibility along with pride about The Day School. This responsibility comes in several forms. First of all, you should always stay in touch with the Development/ Alumni Office. Secondly, you should never hesitate to let us know your ideas on ways to improve student life at The Day School. Finally, your moral and financial support will always be greatly appreciated by everyone associated with your alma mater.

I look forward to seeing you in December at the Holiday Alumni Reunion.

Sincerely,

Tom Maeder

Hardee's

Congratulations...
And many Hardee returns!

Whatever you decide to do after graduation — head off to college, start a new job, or just travel around a while — chances are you'll always be near a Hardee's. There are Hardee's restaurants located throughout the United States, so please feel welcome to come into any Hardee's...anytime!

Enjoy Hardee's homemade biscuit breakfast, a Big Cheese, Big Deluxe, Big Roast Beef or any of Hardee's other delicious menu items.

From everyone at Hardee's — good luck and best wishes for a bright future. See you soon.

If you've always wanted to be in business, start one with us.

Were you one of those kids who always had a lemonade stand...or a paper route? Believe it or not, you have the makings of a successful life insurance agent. You see, we at Northwestern Mutual Life have found that it takes enterprising people to make it in the life insurance business.

That's why almost half of our agents average over $40,000 a year. So, if you like being your own boss and setting your own hours like you did with the lemonade stand, come see us. Northwestern Mutual Life is built around people like you. Call _____ today at 000-0000.
